Do people attend your church ... or are they partners in the ministry? It's time to unleash the people in your church and help them reach their full potential.

building an EQUIPPING culture

Part of the Leadership Network Church Innovation Series

Discover how you can create an equipping culture that allows ministry to become a team effort.

The Building an Equipping Culture seminar will challenge leaders to:

- Empower church members to share in ministry
- Match people's gifts, talents, and life callings with areas of service
- Recognize and develop a broad array of ministry opportunities
- Design a system that addresses needs
- Realize the pastor doesn't have to be all things to all people!

This live, interactive CCN seminar will help you turn your church into a gathering of fully empowered ministry partners—and will prepare you for a brand new ministry experience.

Who Should Attend This Seminar:

- Senior pastors
- Associate pastors
- Lay leaders
- Ministry leaders
- Elders

Don Simmons is Director of City as Parish (CAP), a regional leadership program of One by One Leadership in Fresno, California. As a management consultant he has helped hundreds of churches "think externally;" he has also served Bay Area churches as associate and interim pastor. He is a contributing author of The Equipping Church. Leroy Armstrong became Senior Pastor of historic St. John Missionary Baptist Church in Dallas in August 2002. He founded Proclaiming the Word Ministries and has contributed to Leadership Journal, the African-American Devotional Bible, and Leading Your Church through Conflict and Reconciliation. He is also a consultant to churches and non-profit organizations.
